

School of Business & Economics

Dept. of Marketing

January 7, 2025

Dear Members of the Graduate Admissions Committee,

Upon request of the soon-to-be graduate, Ms. Nefeli Tsaousi, it is with great pleasure that I write this letter in support of her application for graduate studies.

I know Nefeli for the past two years as her instructor in three level 6 courses: MK4247- Advanced Marketing Management and Metrics, MK4070 - Personal Branding for Professionals, as well as the MK4190 - Internship in Marketing at the Undergraduate Program in Marketing at the American College of Greece.

In all courses she received a first class honors, but it is MK4247, that provides me with rich evidence on Nefeli's skills. Advanced Marketing Management and Metrics is a challenging module that utilizes a marketing simulation game to provide comprehension of a vast array of marketing metrics, which students use to develop brand and company strategic plans. In this context, Nefeli served as the leader of her team, successfully guiding them to victory, combining and analyzing data from various sources in a creative way to offer original ideas and implications and delivering excellent individual and group assessments, as well as superior course work throughout the semester.

During her internship at Netdata, which I supervised, Nefeli's performance further confirmed her exceptional capabilities. She was not only completing tasks, but actively contributing to the company's growth. Her initiative and results-driven mindset earned her recognition, and her transition from intern to full-time employee was a natural progression.

Overall, Nefeli's academic record is exemplary, with a GPA of 3.84/4. She a bright student who performed excellent in my classes, demonstrating very high academic preparation, as well as dedication, enthusiasm, organizational and communication skills. He is a hard-working, consistent and serious student, able to cope with pressure and multi-tasking requirements.

Beyond her coursework, she has been engaging in extracurricular activities and major student events. One of my fondest collaborations with Nefeli was during Deree Business Week, a student-driven business conference with high profile guests from the Greek business environment. In 2024, Nefeli voluntarily served as the team leader of the social media marketing committee, going above and beyond to ensure the event's effective communication and promotion. Her contributions, ranging from crafting engaging social media campaigns to managing on-the-ground logistics, were critical to the event's success. Her energy, focus, hard work and commitment over multiple years (2022, 2023, and 2024) earned her two prestigious Organizational Leadership Awards.

In addition to her academic and professional accomplishments, Nefeli is also a student athlete embodying the qualities of teamwork, leadership, work ethic, resilience, self-motivation and a goal-oriented mindset. Her ability to manage multiple responsibilities while maintaining academic excellence speaks volumes about her discipline and determination.

I am confident that Nefeli will excel in your graduate program and make meaningful contributions to your academic community. Her zeal for learning, combined with her professional potential and experience, positions her as a valuable asset to the field of marketing and business.

It is my strong opinion that Nefeli would be an excellent addition to your program, and she has my highest recommendation. Please feel free to contact me should you require any clarifications regarding her character, academic achievements, or professional capabilities.

Sincerely,

A handwritten signature in blue ink, appearing to read "E. Tzoumaka", written over a horizontal line.

Dr. Eugenia Tzoumaka
Assistant Professor
School of Business & Economics
Department of Marketing
Email: etzoumaka@acg.edu