To whom it may concern,

I am writing to recommend Nefeli for admission to the Masters in Marketing program at HEC Paris University (École des Hautes Études Commerciales de Paris). Nefeli is a highly motivated individual striving for success and knowledge. She always gives her all in what she does and I am confident that she will do the same at her studies.

Nefeli started working at Netdata as an intern (university mandatory class) and she became an integral part of our Marketing team from the very beginning. She has managed to juggle her studies, work and various extracurricular activities flawlessly. She is very dedicated, a multitasker, and a great negotiator. She is managing very well working under pressure, ensuring smooth delivery of work projects as well as university projects. This is why she earned a formal role with us in promoting Netdata.

At Netdata, Nefeli is handling various projects but she is solely responsible for our social media accounts, she is managing our influencers and is the main point of contact for our planned events and sponsorships. She has demonstrated great professionalism and project management skills and she has also managed to negotiate prices and keep our spends as low as possible ensuring the best possible outcome.

In summary, I greatly recommend Nefeli for your program and I strongly believe that she will be a great addition. I am confident that she will excel academically as she has so far.

Sincerely,

Aliki Mitropoulou
